Can I rent my books in store?

This option is not currently available in store at this time. Orders for rental must be placed online through the Dalhousie Bookstore website.

How do I return my rental?

You must ship your items to textbookrental.ca using the prepaid Canada Post shipping label provided to you by textbookrental.ca by your due date to avoid extension or replacement fees. Should you be unable to return the book by the designated return date, order extensions and purchasing options are available on textbookrental's Website.

Textbookrental.ca will provide you with a printable prepaid Canada Post shipping label. Simply log on to the Website and click the "Return" button on the "My Account" page. Follow the prompts to generate the label. By placing an order through the Website or the Service, you agree to use this prepaid shipping label to ensure delivery and proper accounting of your return. Any other method of shipping is at the User's own risk, and all late return or extension fees still apply. textbookrental.ca will not be held responsible for late or damaged books returned using any other method of shipping.

Books should be packaged appropriately to keep them from being damaged during shipping. If a book is sent back without proper packaging material (e.g., bubble wrap), regardless of the method of return, and the book has visible damage, it will be your responsibility to pay for those damages.

When must my rental be returned?

When you rent items through textbookrental.ca, you must return those items to textbookrental.ca at any time before the end of the rental period. The due date for return will be given to you when you place your order. You will be held responsible for any late return shipments that are not postmarked by the due date.

If your return is not postmarked by your due date, you may be charged an extension fee. If you are charged an extension fee and the rental is not postmarked or returned by the end of the extension period, you will be charged the remaining replacement fee. This second fee is the difference between the previously authorized charges and the book's purchase price. At this point you may keep the book. Please note orders not returned may restrict your ability to rent additional books. textbookrental.ca retains the right to refuse any order by any customer for any reason it so deems appropriate.

What if I lose or damage my textbook?

Any lost, stolen, unreturned or damaged books will be charged to your account. Should you choose to buy any rented textbook at any time during the rental period, textbookrental.ca will charge an additional amount to your credit card equal to the total cost of the book, as posted by textbookrental.ca.
